Since I was only 13 months old in September of 1946, I have no recollection of the journey or arrival. My mother, Doris Elizabeth Milne, always told me, however, that our landing was delayed for part or all of a day because of fog. We sat outside the harbour waiting for the Queen Mary to clear port. There was no one to meet us at Halifax as we were going to Ontario to join my father, Charles Milne, who had arrived back in the early summer. He met us at Union Station in Toronto and saw me walk all alone for the first time.
