

Jahn Ingeborg
Yugoslavian
Displaced Person
Nea Hellas
July of 1948

My family had fled to Austria from Yugoslavia. From a refugee camp there we left on a train for Genoa, Italy, where we boarded the ship Nea Hellas for Halifax. I was twelve years old and my memory of the trip is rather vague. From Halifax we took the train to Windsor to be met by my father's brother who had emigrated in 1927. We had no citizenship and were grateful to come to Canada to start a new life. I am a very grateful Canadian citizen now. There was no problem in adjusting to life in Canada. God Bless our Land!
